Understanding the Spiritual Threat

God bless you guys today. We are going to talk about how to discern if Freemasonry is somehow attacking or getting access to you and your family, and we're going to look at signs of how this could be happening through your dreams, but also in the natural. I'm going to talk about signs in the natural that indicate your family could be being attacked through Freemasonry. Maybe you have no idea how it's getting access, but you can see these signs in your life, and so you want to address it. You want to break covenant with the Freemason group.

I'm not going to get into the roots and the actual breakdown of Freemasonry. I will if you want to reach out to me, and I can direct you to certain ministries and people that have studied this and could give great explanation. But as I studied it myself, it's clear that no matter what sort of front Freemasonry and its connected organizations like the Shriners and other things—no matter how much of a good front they put up—if you study Freemasonry, you'll see that it is actually at its root a worship of Satan. So if you want to go further into that, reach out, and I will direct you to better, more deep understanding of that.

We're going to base this off the knowledge that you understand that Freemasonry has no right, it's not good, and that it should not be in any way accessing you and your family as a son or daughter of God. And if it is, then you directly deal with it by breaking those covenants, and we'll talk about that. But first I want to give a testimony, because I believe that this personal testimony that me and my family face will bring breakthrough for you. There's power in this testimony, and it will give keys of understanding. After I share the testimony, I'm going to go into the different signs in dreams and in your natural life that could be showing you that this enemy is using this door of access through Freemasonry to attack you.

I had had over a long stretch of time a handful of dreams that showed that there was a strong man, a huge man. He was bald and he was scary. He was living in my home—it was usually homes from the past—but so I knew it wasn't physically about our personal home, but this man was living in my home. So even though I owned the home and I was paying for it to live there, I was not able to live in the home because this strong man was living there. And the Lord reminded me after I woke up from one of these dreams of what the word says about a strong man. It says in Matthew 12:28-29 that if I drive out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you. Or again: "How can anyone enter a strong man's house and steal his possessions unless he first ties up the strong man? Then he can plunder his house." And Jesus is speaking that if you are of God, then you're not going to be working with the devil. You first have to tie up and bind the devil before you can plunder and take back what is rightfully yours.

These are the type of dreams that I was having. And so I went to get prayer for this because I had little understanding on how to break these type of agreements and what this strong man even represented. And through this prayer, we covered breaking off any agreements and covenants with Freemasonry in the bloodlines.

After I prayed this prayer, three days later, our storage unit here in town was broken into. And just as a side note, the people that know us here since we moved here—no one knows where our storage unit is. That's not something we've shown people. So also, when the storage manager called me, he said, “Yours was the only one broken into. You had a strong lock on your unit, so I’m surprised this happened because there were units beside you all around that have stuff in them with no lock on them, and those weren’t even touched.”

We were kind of putting off going to address the storage unit. I just put a lock on it and was going to deal with it later. But the Lord actually gave me a dream that the enemy was trying to stop me from going to address the storage unit, and specifically that my husband needed to take a couple of days off and go with me to deal with the storage unit. So both of us, not really understanding, obeyed; he took the three days off, and we went and dealt with the storage unit.

When we got to the storage unit, everything had just been thrown everywhere. But the only items that were actually stolen belonged to my husband. Anything that was mine was tossed around but wasn’t stolen. And there was a pile of items on the ground at the front of the storage unit. These items were Freemason items: they were books and Freemason Lodge items—from a lodge—Freemason Bibles, things like that. But all of these items were old. There was a lock of hair. There was a bell with a feather attached to it. These were Freemason items, and all of them were old. All of the books were from a different state across the country, and all of them were from the era between 1910 and 1930. And so these items were dropped in a pile at the front of the unit by whoever came in and threw our storage unit around and stole my husband’s belongings.

This was a clear attempt of retaliation by the enemy to actually say, “Yeah, your prayer worked, and I couldn’t touch anything of yours, but I could take your husband’s things.” And it was clear that these agreements, these contracts, had been made back in the early 1900s, way back in the generations, because nobody in my family that I spoke to knew of any Freemason connections. And so this was done way back. In a strange way, it brought me great encouragement because I knew the prayer had worked and that the enemy had no rights, and that he was actually returning those things that he had rights to attack our family through, but he was trying to almost make a mess and try to intimidate as best he could while actually not being able to take anything from me.

My husband on the other hand was obviously upset that these things had been stolen from him. And when we returned to our apartment from dealing with the storage unit, his bike had been stolen from right out front of our apartment. That was put right up next to the door. We live on the third floor, so this was somebody that intentionally came up to steal his bike. And so after that experience, my husband himself realized, “Okay, well obviously they have some rights in my bloodline that I don’t even know about.” And this is usually common—people don’t have any knowledge of it because it’s been done either in secret by somebody way back in the bloodline, or done in the bloodline but before anyone who's currently living would have any knowledge of it. So he dealt with it for himself in his own bloodline.

I share that testimony because there was a huge shift in the spirit realm and the justice in the courts of heaven when I did this prayer and broke off these agreements with Freemasonry in my bloodline, even though me and my children, my parents, my grandparents had no involvement in it. It shows the reality that these things can run through the generations until they're dealt with. You can be a child of God, you can go to heaven, you can live your life loving God, but if the Lord is revealing that there's an access point through this satanic agreement or covenant, then we need to deal with it.

Another point is that many people sign up for these things and join these groups not knowing the depth of evil that is actually at the root, that's actually going behind the scenes, thinking that it's an innocent group. And so there is no condemnation for those way back in the bloodline that maybe did this not knowing how evil it was, but also for those that even in the present have joined Freemason groups or Shriner groups thinking this is a good group. And the Lord is exposing that not to bring condemnation, but to shut down those rights, to tear down those devastations on the generation, so that he can rebuild on a solid foundation. Amen.

So let's look at different signs in dreams that could be indicating that you have possible Freemason attacks in your bloodline. First of all, if you are being chased in your dreams by either police officers or authorities that have legal papers—they have legal paperwork to bring you in and detain you—then that could be it. And even specifically if they say this is because of your name or your family name, that is a huge indicator that there have been Masonic covenant agreements in the bloodline that have rights to detain you in the spirit realm until those covenants and contracts are brought to the courtroom of heaven and the blood of Jesus applied to them. They are being used against you to chase and try to detain you. And another sign is being treated as if you belong to someone in the dream, almost like as if they possess you. You might know this person, you might not.

If a person is allowed to be dwelling in your home and almost dominating the home, whether you know them or not, it could be a sign that there is a generational covenant or curse that is allowing this domination in your life that you maybe didn't even invite in. Freemasonry can also come through marriage contract. If you marry somebody that is part of that group, then that covenant is mixed into having its open doors into your life as well. Possibly even dating somebody and there is Freemasonry in their family. A religious spirit hates to hear these things, and it is very hard to talk about, but we need to talk about it because discernment of spirits and discernment of cleansing out the bloodlines by the blood of Jesus and taking care of the devastated ruins in this hour is what is on the Lord's heart, and that is so clear.

Another sign is if someone is living in your home, keeping you from living there, or keeping you in fear and restriction while you live there. And I mentioned that example of the type of dreams that I had had, especially if there are maybe other family members that are with you that are being detained in your home, or dominated in your home, or kept out of your home.

Another sign is being stuck in a maze, or contained in a room or house with many rooms, where you're almost stuck as if you're kept in a house. Oftentimes the house will look old or look dark, or maybe it will just look like a regular house, but you're stuck in there and you're kind of going in circles or on some sort of obstacle course or maze inside this building. Seeing people from the 1910s, 1920s era. Maybe these people might even call you family. I've had dreams sent in where the person did not know these people because they were from the 1910s, 1920s, but the people in the dream said, "Hey, we know you. You're part of our family," or "You're part of the club."

These kind of signs are indicating that there could be Freemason contracts. Why the early 1900s is connected to Freemasonry, I believe, is more an indicator of the time period that the enemy used many people to get very wealthy through these contracts, and they actually prospered because they were the ones that, whether for good or bad intent, had joined the Freemason connections, and because of that they prospered. But the devastations are upon the third and the fourth generations, right? Those that don't follow that way and don't align with the Freemason church—those are the people that would be facing the opposite, facing poverty and cycles of devastation in their own life and their own finances and their own health because they're facing the contract and the covenant in a negative way.

Seeing family members dressed in 1910s, 1920s era clothing is another sign. Another sign is a ring on the hand of the oppressor, or if it's a family member, even a coworker—somebody that in the dream they're a Freemason, or if you don't know they're a Freemason, sometimes it can be symbolized by a man's ring or a ring that looks like it belongs to a group or some sort of, almost like in a college where you would be part of a brotherhood, like a ring that makes a sign. That could be a sign of Freemasonry in the bloodline. Another sign that is important is being choked or attacked in relation to the throat. And this can even apply to a lack of being able to breathe, a lack of being able to move. The reason for the throat and being choked is that if you actually study Freemasonry, the rope around the neck is often a symbol of their initiation into their group.

Now let's look at signs in the natural. This is not a conclusive list of either dreams or natural signs, but I'll share what I have seen in dream after dream after dream that is sent into me, and seeing that when I talk to these people, there are signs that connect in the natural to confirm the dreams.

The first and one of the most important signs is an attack on the oldest son. And the reason for this goes all the way back to the Book of Exodus. In the book of Exodus, when the Lord delivers the people out of the hand of Pharaoh, out of slavery and oppression by a world system, God spoke to Moses saying, “Set apart every firstborn to me, the first one to come from the womb among the Israelites, whether person or animal, is mine,” says the Lord. Moses said to the people, “Always remember this day. This is the day when you came out of Egypt from a house of slavery.” And so the enemy always tries to attack what is set apart or belonging to the Lord. And the Lord says the first son is mine; you shall set him apart unto me. And so the enemy will target the oldest son, especially through his own systems and his own groups that worship him.

If the oldest son in the natural struggles with rebellion or an inability to thrive or even a desire to take their own life, these are signs that there could be Freemasonry in the bloodline, especially if this son is not part of the Freemason group or church. If he’s not practicing or following their ways, then he would become a target, because that is—it’s almost like someone who makes a covenant way back in the generation is basically saying, sacrificing the first sons that would break open the womb in the generations to follow, until that curse is broken. Hallelujah, that curse is broken when we take it before the Lord and come out of contract with it.

If the oldest son has difficulty with the throat or with breathing, with lung issues, breathing issues, that’s another sign that there could be Freemasonry in the bloodline. And let me stop and say that the oldest son is not the most important to the Lord when we look at scripture. The Lord often chooses the overlooked younger son, not always the youngest, but when we look at Joseph, or we look at David, we look at Gideon, we look at the people that God chose to use, oftentimes they were not the oldest son. It doesn’t mean that God always only blesses or favors the oldest son. We look at Jacob; Jacob was given the birthright, right? And Isaac was not the oldest son of Abraham. So we see that it doesn’t mean that the oldest son is the only one that’s going to be used by God or always going to be picked by God. In fact, He does the opposite and chooses an overlooked son.

But the reality is that there is a consecration upon the first son that the enemy targets and tries to attack. This is especially true that I’ve seen in Freemasonry: suicidal attacks on children, on grandchildren, on people in the home. That is often a sign of Freemasonry in the bloodline, especially if it’s attacking not the person who made the covenant but generations that come from them. If there’s a generational attack of suicide, a common thread of unnatural or early deaths is another sign of possible Freemasonry in the bloodline or coming against the family. Unnatural or early deaths—if it’s like a pattern of “this person died young” or “these four people in our family died in a car accident” or this freak accident death—is a common theme that is used against the generational line, not just through suicide but also through early death or unnatural death.

Look for patterns in the family line: infertility in the daughters or granddaughters. There is an attack on the reproductive ability of those—not again, not those who made the contract, who got the blessing from it and got the wealth from it—but those down the bloodline are almost paying for that covenant by these attacks in the judicial system of the spirit realm. If there's a target against the reproductive organs in the daughter to be able to produce, that is another sign.

The last sign that I have seen, a very, very common theme, is finances. The financial distress or cycles of financial hardship, meaning almost like there's a feeling of a sealing upon you. No matter how hard you try, no matter how well you're doing at work, there seems to be a target against you or a cycle of financial blocking of a breakthrough in your finances. This is a common sign of a generational or open door to Freemasonry in your life. The reason being is that finances are a huge reason and a draw for those who make covenants in this Freemason group and associated groups, because it often brings them great wealth. A lot of them, when people are trying to recruit for Freemasonry, say, "You know, I started doing really well financially when I joined."

Again: the contract maker, or the one who makes that covenant, is blessed. But down the line, you'll see specific family members or a pattern of financial frustration and a lack of breakthrough in finances. The financial blessing is often on those who would either stay in the fraternity, continue the Freemason pattern. Then those people in the family line wouldn't have financial hardship because they're staying in agreement and almost perpetuating the covenant. But those who struggle the most financially in these systems are often those who are the most resistant to the Freemason. Often, when you start to turn to follow God's plan and to set your feet to go to the way of God, that's when you might hit this financial cycle of burden and poverty or attack on your finances, because you're resisting what the family has maybe been unknowingly operating under this covenant, and you're now trying to go a different way. That could be a sign that the Freemason contracts or access points are now allowed to harass the finances until that covenant and agreement is broken.

I want to take a moment now to just pray over you, and I know the Lord will bring revelation and understanding exactly where you need it. Choose to say no to a religious mindset. A religious mindset oftentimes is okay with saying, "I'm okay with saying that's wrong and that's wrong," and the enemy can attack that way, but in a general sense, the religious spirit does not like bringing up things about the demonic or bringing up things about the spiritual realm, especially bloodline things, even though it's all over the scripture, because it's an opposition to it. If that's kind of rising up, just say, "You know what, that's not who I am. I'm open to the Spirit of God and whatever He reveals." Why else would the Lord say that there is a gift called the discerning of spirits and understanding how spirits operate and how to address them? I will also encourage you, if you need to know more understanding about the legal justice system of heaven and how biblically that is very clear, the Courts of Heaven by Robert Henderson—I'll put a link to that—that really speaks to understanding that from a biblical perspective.

So let me pray over you now. In the mighty name of Jesus, Lord, I thank you that because you dwell in us and we belong to you and your blood is in our veins, we belong to you, Lord Jesus, that we have nothing to fear. I thank you for the authority that you took back the keys when you conquered death, hell, and the grave, and that you have given us those keys to bind up whatever is bound in heaven and to loose whatever is loosed in heaven. I thank you, Lord, that we have that authority in your name, by your blood. We just take this moment now to stand in our authority and to say, Lord, whatever you're showing your people that is attacking them, especially in regards to Freemasonry, that they can take those keys of authority and in your name and by your blood address the spirit and attacks of Freemasonry on their life, on their children, on their grandchildren, on their great-grandchildren.

I thank you, Lord, that you're revealing through dreams and through impressions and through just an understanding being dropped into the spirit of those listening—if this is them, if this is attacking them—I thank you for that revelation, and I thank you that you will lead them in the exact way they need to go to break that, to go to the courts of heaven and to apply the blood of Jesus to those covenants. If they need deeper healing or need to meet with someone to pray through these things, I pray, Lord, you would direct them to do that. I thank you in advance, Lord, for the breakthrough in the mighty name of Jesus. The breakthrough and the chains that are falling off, and the devastations of the generations that are being removed, so that you can build your kingdom here on earth, in your kingdom families, in the mighty name of Jesus. Amen.
